Card Set Up Directions

1. Print playing cards on cardstock, laminate, then cut apart for durability.
2. Your playing surface will determine what you do next. Placing magnetic tape on the back of the cards will allow students to manipulate the cards on chalk/dry erase boards. But you could also use them on flannel boards. We play our game on a table covered with a plastic tablecloth that allows us to use dry erase markers directly on the table!

Playing with the Cards

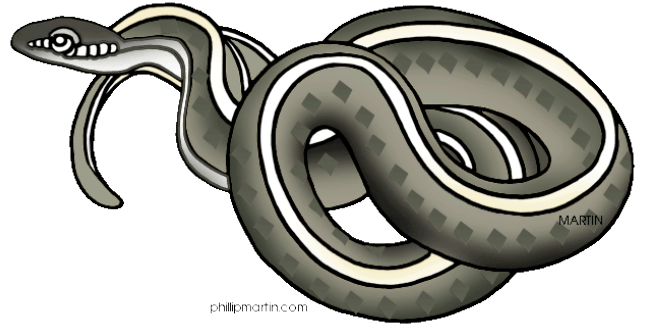

The cards available in this deck offer a variety of food chain, food web, as well as other ecological manipulative activities. For detailed descriptions of the possibilities, visit my website:
